Highway Safety

We were driving out of town yesterday along Kent Street in the dusk when a young cyclist wobbled past on the inside lane and nearly collided with the rear of a car about which was turning into a parking spot.

The youngster had no front or rear light on his cycle, despite the fact that it was fairly dark out.

It is about time that policemen took cognizance of the fact that bicycles are vehicles, and made the riders of them obey traffic laws. Cycles being used at night should carry a light on the front and a red light at the rear.

In addition the European custom of insisting that cyclists also carry a red reflector and a white painted portion on the back mudguard might well be followed.

Cyclists should be kept off the sidewalk and also prevented from cycling against the flow of traffic, going through stop signs without stopping, and carrying a passenger on the crossbar.

The increase in the number of light-weight motor-cycles poses similar problems. Again in countries where these vehicles have been popular and common for many years, the riders are not given stringent traffic rules.

In Lindsay and other towns and cities in the province, the riders overtake cars on the inside, drive without lights, U-turn anywhere and ride three abreast.

The time to clamp down and make an example of a few of these riders is now, before the motor-cycling fraternity increases further and more are killed or injured in accidents.

Students

N. R. Crump, chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, estimates that 30 per cent of the students in universities should not be there. Unhappily there are students who are unhappy in their studies and it would be better for them and the country if they were doing something else and preparing themselves for some other activity. Young people who are determined to get somewhere in a definite framework of achievement will be more sure of reaching their goals.

Also it will be best for labour, says Mr. Crump, if labour co-operates to prevent the erection of artificial barriers to adoption of the most efficient technology and the best in work practice.

During the second world war when fire and destruction laid waste all around St. Paul's Cathedral survived as if by a miracle. When the smoke and dust had cleared away, Londoners saw their cathedral as they had never seen it before, free from the encroachment of tightly packed office blocks. St. Paul's was built, from 1675 to 1710. E.T.A. Philippi.

Berry Patch Hazards

Thinking of taking up a summer sport with a little reward and a lot of adventure? Try picking wild berries! The rewards are delicious strawberries, raspberries, and blueberries and a new discovery of the great outdoors.

The adventure part is trying to fill your berry basket without sitting in poison ivy, being stung by wasps, cut with glass, burnt by the sun, or poisoned by insecticide or pesticide residue. The berry patch is one of the most dangerous places in the country, says St. John Ambulance, and before venturing there you should be prepared for the hazards you will face.

Insect stings are often serious and can be fatal. The more dangerous ones, such as in the mouth, should be given medical attention at once. Less serious bites can be treated with a soothing lotion of baking soda, washing soda, or clothes bluing.

One of the most common berry patch hazards is poison ivy. Learn to recognize the shiny triple green leaves and avoid them. If you do come in contact with poison ivy, or suspect you have, wash the exposed skin with soap and water as soon as possible. Use laundry soap if you have it. Wipe with alcohol and apply calamine lotion.

Cuts, blisters, and bruises are also common mishaps but are usually superficial and require little attention. For deeper cuts, however, stop the flow of blood with a clean cloth pressed tightly against the wound. If the bleeding continues, elevate the injured part and keep it still.

Heat is also important for strains, sprains, broken bones, and dislocations. In all cases, immobilize the injury. Use splints and slings if you know how.

Insecticides and pesticides on wild berries can cause severe illness and even death. However, there is little danger if the fruit is washed thoroughly before being consumed. If poisoning is suspected, call a doctor at once.

Lastly, if you want a tan, get it at home or on the beach. Always wear a hat and other protective clothing in the berry patch. Not only will it protect you from the sun, but from the other hazards as well.

POWS in Lindsay
Soldiers of Hitler entered Lindsay today but their entrance had none of the terrifying effect on the citizens that it had on the unfortunate civilians in

Grey-clad Hun soldiers, some smiling in relief that they were far from the zone of fighting and others surly and sulky gazed out the windows of a long special train today as it passed through the lush farming country which gleams at this time of the year like a green jewel.

Only a few Lindsay citizens saw the German prisoners. Their coming was not advertised. Public display was made of Germans as it had of prisoners in Germany. They were transported in comfortable trains, given good food and will find themselves detained for the duration in internment camps which have been provided for the purpose.

Home Guard

The first military parade of the Peniston Pals Home Guard brought a fuller realization to citizens yesterday of Canada's defense need in the present grim struggle.

Decoration Day

Lindsay Lodge 100F No. 100 held decoration services at Riverside Cemetery on Sunday in memory of former members of the lodge. Led by the Lindsay Citizens' Band the lodge paraded from its rooms on Kent Street to the cemetery. Mayor Grand James Grant opened the service with a short address and was followed by Rev. J. J. Black who offered prayer.

Support Eviction

A citizen who is deeply interested in the improvements being made to McDowell Park, makes the suggestion that the house be torn down and that the foundation be used in connection with the erection of a pavilion which could be used for band concerts as well as excursions coming to town.

Sidewalk in dangerous shape

The council last night received a communication from S. G. Parkin regarding the dangerous condition of the sidewalk, of what is left of it, on the west side of William Street, in front of Mr. James Horn's residence. About 300 feet of it was bad shape and Mr. Parkin claimed the cost of a new stretch would not nearly amount to the cost in connection with a suit for damages.

The Board of Works has this matter under consideration and will take action as soon as possible.

Killed in Action

In the list of casualties today there appears the name of Sgt. Donald Henry Bruce Campbell, of Highland Grove, Haliburton County. He belonged to the First Battalion and was killed in action.

Private Harry B. McNight of Lochlin is suffering from concussion.

Youth Drowns

This afternoon shortly before one o'clock Leo Cleary, the youngest son of Mrs. Jeremiah Cleary of Duke Street was drowned in the Seagull River at the One wing bridge.

Woodville-Lindsay girls game changed

With the George Street ball park flooded by the torrential rain Monday night, Lindsay's entry in the Twin County La-diest softball league saw their fifth game into the postponed 16.

The next game for the Lin-day girls will be at Woodville
Wednesday night. This game was originally scheduled for the Lindsay park and the return game at Woodville Monday evening. As the George Street park is available for girls softball on Monday evenings, the Woodville team officials agreed to switch dates with the game in Woodville
Wednesday, June 26th and the return game at George Street
Monday, July 8th.

Women's world

(UP—A Toronto doctor who is a foot specialist, or podiatrist, says that in most cases children who have foot problems are born with their problems. But the parents should blame the troubles on the doctor's shoes all their lives.

Doctor W. A. Laine says that the feet are often overlooked entirely in a medical checkup. Doctor Laine recommends that you have your child's feet checked once or twice a year, especially if you notice any of the following signs of trouble.

If your child's shoes are wearing unevenly or if he is walking awkwardly, if he is nervous or irritable, if he complains of fatigue and wants to take his shoes off all the time, or if his feet sweat too much, he might have foot trouble.

Doctor Laine says if foot problems are left unattended, they can affect the whole body. Muscles, posture and knees can be affected, and you can even get headaches. Early treatment is important. Leg cramps can be another sign. Doctor Laine says there is no such thing as growing pains. The cramps are the result of lack of oxygen in the muscles, due to foot strain or muscle imbalance.

The doctor suggests the following do's and don'ts which will help keep feet healthy, for young and old alike.

You should wear dress shoes for dress, play shoes for play and work shoes for work. People should wear shoes all the time, some children would

Surprise shower given new bride

Mrs. Gordon Cart, (nee Carol Gossling) was the guest of honor at a surprise shower given for her by her friends in her honor at the home of Mrs. William March on King Street, Wednesday evening last week. There were 20 friends in attendance.

The living room was decorated with pink and white streamers and the special chair for the bride was also decorated.

Many beautiful and useful gifts were received. Assisting in opening them and reading the messages on each was Mrs. Gordon.

A few interesting comments were relayed by the group. Then refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Lillian Hensley and Mrs. H. M. Brown.

A surprise visit by one of the local Basketball Clubs was enjoyed at the entertainment with a number of selections.

Walk-the-Plank Teeterboard

ANYONE can stand a so-called siting down. To ride one rising up, there's a challenge! Junior craftsmen are invited to construct the teeterboard at right expressly for this purpose. Construction details are as follows:

Materials: 2"x12" plank; 1/4" exterior plywood; nine number screws; 1/2" pipe; pipe clamps; flange; seat cushions; rubber hose, etc.

Assembly: Plank is centered on plywood board. Pivotal bearings are positioned at ends and in the middle. Center pole extends through hole in plank; is attached to bottom crossbar.

Note: Steps and miniature teeterboard (illustrated) are optional accessories. Would-be plank-walkers are advised to master simple version first.

Operation: Testers take positions at opposite ends of plank; proceed cautiously toward center. On summing point, participants continue toward opposite side of plank. Of course, is to charge sides without spilling.

Research, balance and coordination are requisites for a successful crossover. Caution must be the watchword at all times.

Let's Go, Fishermen!

FISHING success is often secured by fish and fishing. This is a simple game, but it is a game that can be played by anyone. It is a game that can be played by anyone.

SMART GALLERY

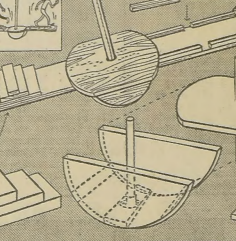

Doctor Laine says you should not believe in so-called corrective shoes, because no shoe is corrective for all feet.

He says children should be allowed to run barefoot only on soft surfaces such as sand or grass because hard surfaces can injure heels or cause foot strain.

JUNIOR FUN PROJECT

Can You Tally Net Results?

A CERTAIN substitute center of the Shooting Star basketball team had scored two more points than the average for the season would have been two per game. However, had he scored eight fewer, his average would have been only one. How many goals did he not in how many games?

Answer: 16 goals in 16 games.

The winning strategy in this contest is easily remembered. The situation arose thought before you make a move. Hopper's solution is given below.

A Number to Remember

EVERYONE has his own way of remembering difficult telephone numbers, names, addresses, dates and so on. A certain mathematician has devised a method to remember his own number by considering the following facts:

The number consists of five digits whose sum is 14. The second and fifth digits are the same. The first and fourth digits are also of equal value. The sum of the first and second figures, whose total is equal to the third digit.

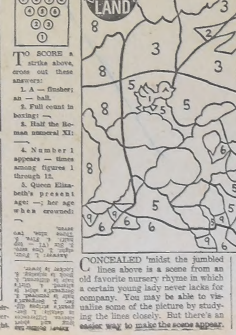

Can you figure out his number?

Fair Trade in Junior Country

A following trades: A box of marbles for a bracelet and two straws; or a pair of carriages for two small handkerchiefs and a string of beads. That being so, what was the relative value of the ring and beads?

Answer: The value of the ring was twice that of the beads.

weather the fabrics for hot-weather wear-and-what could be cooler or more flattering than a white cotton blouse.

A snow-white blouse will add the pretty touch. The newest blouse that it needed to top a gay cotton pat to skirt. It also will give a cool frothy touch to a dark cotton summer suit.

Cotton is a big favourite sleeveless, and tailored to perfectly.

Cotton dress, too, are gaily coloured and patterned, with some featuring the wild, designs seen in a long time.

However, for those who prefer the more modest color and pattern, there's a wide choice, including some enchanting flower sprigged cottons that have an old-fashioned charm, mostly on dark backgrounds.

These flower sprigged cottons are used for skimmers, suits and dresses. And they offer interesting — and real fun — contrast to the livelier new cotton fashions.

Listen, World!

PARADES are in summer speech testify new designs for women have been influenced by certain men and women. Can you supply what's omitted here is a question from last week?

"Truly, there is in the dress of men, but there is no girl-street waiting forever as a question from last week?"

These flower sprigged cottons are used for skimmers, suits and dresses. And they offer interesting — and real fun — contrast to the livelier new cotton fashions.

GREAT BOOKS X-WORD

FRENCH novelist Honoré de Balzac (1799-1850) devoted a career to his work to devote his time to literature. His early days were difficult ones. Had starting in Paris, he turned to writing sensational articles for publications under various pseudonyms. At 20, he wrote his first novel, with its publication of the historical romance Les Chouans. Subsequently, Balzac wrote 20 novels, 47 of which comprised La Comédie Humaine, a penetrating insight on the society of the time (the 20 novels).

REPORT FROM OTTAWA

by Russell C. Honey, M.P., Durham

The House of Commons has been once again operating under the streamlined rules of procedure for the last week. The results are impressive. By June 30th, we hope to have completed all business outside of the Prime Minister's Office for this part of the session. Parliament will then recess for the summer holidays.

The moderation of the rules has had the net effect of the House of Commons spending less time on bickering and factious points of order, and more time on legislative accomplishments.

The changes give the Speaker a much tighter rein on proceedings. The right to appeal from the Speaker's rulings has been eliminated. This much abused process took many hours of time in previous sessions. The Speaker's rulings were often challenged with the result that this would serve as an indirect embarrassment to the government.

Another time waster which has been regulated by the amendments is the "question period". Traditionally this was the opening of the House each day, was for the purpose of giving members of the opposition a chance to question Ministers on matters of urgent national importance. Over the years the abuse of this procedure has been growing. Members, unfortunately, forgot the requirements of urgency and national importance. They asked questions, designed to impress the folks back home, about problems in their own constituencies which quite often were neither urgent or of national importance. The length of the question period frequently ran to 90 minutes or more.

Under the new rules the question period is limited to one hour on Mondays and one-half hour all other days. With the new authority given to the Speaker is able to insure that this time is devoted to proper questions.

The traditional two hour dinner break is a thing of the past. Now the House sits right through until approximately at 10:00 p.m. Members of the party have adjusted so that one-half of them stay in the House while the other one-half eat. There are special safeguards to prevent map votes being taken during this two hour period.

One of the new regulations provides that the House may sit after 10:00 p.m. to finish the legislative item before it at the time. The extended sitting would be at the request of a Minister. Any ten members may turn down such a request. Previously such a request could not be granted if one member objected.

The guttural is, of course, the key reform. This provision permits reasonable time limits to be placed on any item of legislation. No longer will it be possible for one group to mount a filibuster to prevent a matter coming to a vote.

The changes are by far the most extensive ever in the history of Canada's Parliament. The new rules move the operation of Parliament from the Council keeps school board in the dark charges Inrig

Chairman of the Lindsay Public School Board, George Inrig, told parents of pupils graduating from the Central Senior School, Monday it was impossible to plan the school board and the public in general informed of happenings in the community.

Mr. Inrig told the gathering if proper planning were to be done to provide educational facilities for the children of the town a co-ordinating committee must be formed by the town council.

He said he didn't know what new industries were settling in the town or how many new

More of Phase II of the Rambler Revolution:
 fresh new spirit of excellence.

Fierce new fastback—with a backbone.

Marlin
 ...man-size!

Here's one car you'll never catch with the other fastbacks. Marlin—the mighty one, meant for a man! This one's got too much sweet luxury... too much bone-deep value... too much muscle through and through to be just another fastback or sports car. Marlin's fitted out to go places—for the man who's got what it takes to get there. Start out with Double Safety Power Disc Brakes, individually adjustable reclining seats, wheel discs, room for six and door-to-door broadroom—all standard. Plus the 155 h.p. Torque Command 225, smoothest delivery of all the ones. Or go with powerful V8—287 or mighty 327 cu.-in. options. Then add bucket seats, light pack, wire wheels. Console-mounted stick on the floor. "Shift-Command" you shift it or it shifts itself. Got more questions in mind? Marlin has enough to go your way one better.

REPORTS DAILY
(CP) — Thirty-eight-year-old James Galacher of Glasgow, Scotland, is going through an ordeal, he says is much harder than a prison sentence. Galacher, after repeated requests for drunkenness, was ordered to report to the police station after the bank close each night — to prove his sobriety. He has been proving it for five months.

LINDSAY - A RAILROAD TOWN

Number 7 in a new series of articles on railroading by CHARLES HEELS of Lindsay, who worked for 48 years on the Grand Trunk (later the Canadian National) as Lindsay Supervisor of car service.

Midland Railway engine 605 is pictured at Lindsay about 1890. The man at the left is Jim Hughes, Master of the Midland Railway. Minister of Militia for Canada in the First World War 1914-1918. Next to him is Conductor Jimmy Greaves who was conductor on the Cobcock mixed train for many years. At the driving wheel is Engineer Ralph Clarke, who died in 1935 at the age of 76.

The picture of Midland the coach siding. There were feet ahead, which was more of railway engine 605 was taken around 1900 employees on the line a warning of an approaching train just west of Hamilton Street, Lindsay, around 1890.

This engine was originally numbered 5 and was built by the Portland Locomotive Co., at Portland, Maine in 1871. Before June 1874, the engine was 15 x 24 inches and the diameter of the driving wheels 60 inches. When built the gauge was 4 feet 8 1/2 inches. In 1874, the engine was rebuilt to suit the changed condition and was re-numbered 605. While the Grand Trunk Railway leased the Midland Railway as of September 22nd, 1883, it was not officially absorbed into the Grand Trunk until 1883 by an Act of Parliament. In the meantime many Midland Railway engines continued to carry that name and their Midland Railway number. When this engine was finally lettered Grand Trunk the number 605 was retained.

The engine standing at the driving wheels was Ralph Clarke who for many years operated the mixed train on the Hamilton Branch. He entered the service of the Midland Railway in 1880 and retired in 1926. At the extreme left of the picture is Sam Hughes, later Minister of Militia in the First World War and for his service he was later recognized by the King and became Sir Sam Hughes.

Next to him is Jimmy Greaves, Conductor, who closed out his days of railroading as Conductor on the Cobcock mixed train that left Cobcock at 9:10 A.M., arrived Lindsay at 10:10 A.M., remained in Lindsay during the day and departed at 8:35 P.M., arriving Cobcock at 8:50 P.M. six days per week. After the switching was done it was 11:00 P.M. before the crew got off duty, and they had to be on duty the following morning at 6:00 A.M.

The pay in the earlier days was not very high. The Conductor received around $40, the Engineer $45 and the brakemen and firemen between $28 and $32 per month. Until around 1913 employees received their pay through the Pay Car once a month. The pay car would dash over the entire territory, stopping briefly at stations to pay the agent and the trackmen. Insofar as Lindsay was concerned it was scheduled to arrive around 1 P.M. on the 29th of each month. It was packed just west of Cambridge St. on

The "cow catcher" failed to do its duty.

Mr. and Mrs. George McNabb and son James and Mr. Dave Jones have returned home from a two week's vacation and a trip to the east coast.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harry and sons, Douglas and Donald, of Upper North have returned home after spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Taylor and sister Donna.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Beggs accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Beggs of Lindsay motored to Belleville and visited with relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hewie have moved into the house in the village, visited a few months ago by Mr. and Mrs. Alex Sinclair and family.

Mary, Mary appealed to all

A violent storm affected the attendance at the K.L.T.A. summer theatre opening Monday at the Academy Theatre but in no way affected the excellence of the performance of Jean Kerr's comedy "Mary Mary".

"Mary Mary", a sparkling comedy enacted in a New York apartment atmosphere had the patrons in a hilarious mood from the start.

An outstanding performance led by Joyce Gordon as Mary McKelway, divorced wife of Bob McKelway, played by Paul Harding set the pace for the entire cast, as ripples of laughter soon turned into crescendo of applause as the plot developed.

Little Pat Armstrong as Tiffany Richards, Bob's new interest, bounced in and out of situations with gay abandon while Patrick Boxill portrayed the legal adviser, Oscar Nelson with dignity, mellowness by the numerous situations with which he became involved. Dennis Gilliland as Bob's former navy pal, Dirk Winston, spoiled the programme as Mrs. Elton Holt and Mr. Holt, who were more than a passing interest in Bob's ex-wife.

Intermission comment on all sides indicated those in attendance were well pleased with the play and many said they would be back to see it again and bring friends.

K.L.T.A. president Don Flowers as the tribute to the K.L.T.A. from a City of Peterborough. Mr. Scott and Mrs. Scott entertained members of the cast, including John Bowes of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Vanderburgh of Cedarville, David Logan of Lindsay, Gordon Scales of Peterborough, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry McDonald of Lindsay.

The Queen Mother

Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother has followed a most important private visit to the Toronto Southern Region and visits to Ottawa and Port Hope. Everywhere she went she was welcomed by cheering crowds. Bruce West of the Toronto Globe and Mail, commenting on the Queen Mother's visit expressed the thought of many of us. We quote:

"There was grace and kindly sentiment and inspiration, as wholesome as home-made bread being baked by a favorite aunt. Simply this is not the thing our ardent nationalists are trying so hard to destroy. And, if so, to what end? I suppose how you react to these things depends to some extent upon what you are looking for when you are watching them. A rabid Canadian, regardless, for instance, might point to the rather self-conscious prancing and strutting which was exhibited by some of our local dignitaries as they escorted about under the kindly glow of an often omitted by the Crown and those who are near it. Although I might be inclined to agree, or at least to nod, with this objection, I would feel bound to draw to the attention of this reader the unforgettable picture of the royal coronation at St. Mark's Basilica, graying the arms of his wheelchair and palely drawing himself up to greet the Queen Mother. I am sure you will be remembering the lady who sat in town, when London Bridge was falling down, in those golden and stream days of the wireless forties."

Clara Winge

Headlines of Isobogwen and Friends in Lindsay will be pleased to hear that Ralph Winge of the USAR camp at Camp Borden has been listed with the files who have received their wings.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gordon of Isobogwen and was well-known as a scholar in this district before he enlisted.

Civil Guard

There was a lineup of men at the Convention Hall on Monday night to join up for the Civil Guard.

Here Ben and L. M. Curtis were in charge of the registration. Mr. Curtis had been previously appointed commanding officer and Walter Mitchell, non-commissioned officer.

At the meeting Wallace Dinning was appointed the second NCO. The village council offered them the use of the Convention Hall at any time and it was arranged that they would drill on Mondays and Fridays commencing from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Three Men

T. H. Bevil of Bevil's Restaurant, Yorkton, Ontario, had a thrill during his recent visit to the Lindsay. A huge black bear crossed the road in front of his car and the two men by the side of the road were hit. They wandered into the woods apparently not in the least disturbed by the proximity of Mr. Bevil.

les, when what we have now was being won and secured, surely it is not we say to the world, that we have to look back to remember such things, and remember them proudly."

"There is a great deal of difference between healthy respect and servility. Did you happen to notice, during the colour presentation ceremonies of the Toronto Southern Regiment, how high the soldierly ships were carried and how firmly the heads snatched the ground as the Queen's men waving by the soldierly, stand where stand the Queen Mother?"

"I say what you like about it, my respondent. But, anything, which gives an extra dose of pride to good men is a healthy thing, and thank God there's still a little bit of it left. What was it in Virgil's Aeneid was not the arrogant kind of pride which might be generated by the presence of a deity, but a much more humble thing, a systematic breathing of hot steel and steel, the affection, which often has been confounded and abused our enemies."

"Then who knew what I'm talking about to further explanation of it. And those who don't know could never, I suppose, have felt fully explained to them."

But make an mistake about it, it's still there, woven with, and still at large, through the very fabric of this country. And the boys mischievous who are now so eagerly trying to remove it may one day find that it helps hold together much more than they dreamed of."

Prison Commandant

Lord Col. Fox, who up until last Saturday commanded the base battalion, has been made commandant of the Internment Prison at Port Henry, official word of the appointment having reached Borden this afternoon.

Lord Col. Fox will have charge of between 350 and 400 prisoners of war.

Lt. Col. Fox is very popular and holds the distinction of having enlisted more recruits than any other commanding officer in this province.

Bliss From Lashley

Harry Shingler was the victim of a painful accident. He was painting a porch on a Hay Street residence, when the ladder on which he was standing slipped and fell. Mr. Shingler had two teeth knocked out, his right hand cut and bruised and he also sustained a fractured rib. It will be some days before he will be able to resume work.

Business Changes Made

Another business change completed in the last few days in Lindsay is a change of partners in the Lindsay Coal and Lumber Co., of Lindsay and Kent Streets.

Mr. Win. Hild, who has been active in engaged to the business for many a year, has sold out his share of the concern to Mr. Stanley H. Ferner of Cresswell, who will immediately become connected with the garage.

Mr. Post. Thelwell will retain his controlling interest in the business and will look after the management.

Apartheid

(11) "The race problem continues in South Africa, the colonies are black, white and coloured... and the rules designed to keep them apart are confusing and annoying—even to the whites. They recently a 154 aircraft carrier failed to make a scheduled call at Cape Town. The reason: Among the crew of 35-hundred men were Negroes and the government wouldn't let them come ashore. The cancellation of the call by the United States caused off newspaper and public opinion which reflected many aspects of race segregation."

Even aspects of the all-white government of Prime Minister Vorster are condemning parts of the racial policies which forbid all social contact across the color line. During a protest meeting, Afrikaans noted that Van Rieja said his countrymen have become the world's best laughlines, the world's most fanatical bureaucrats and "most trouble-makers."

Apartheid creeps up in the most unusual places.

Africans and whites may kneel and pray together, they may talk, eat, read together, but cannot sleep under the same roof.

No blacks are allowed to watch white golfers compete in national tournaments—only Indian and coloured spectators are allowed to.

Even flower shows come under the complex segregation laws. And whites and non-whites use separate transport, public facilities, park benches, beaches, bars, shops and recreational facilities. In official terms there is no segregation, only the "separate development of the races."

Birthday or 'Death Day'

Canada's birthday, July 1, is a Sunday, midweek holiday this year. The Canadian Highway Safety Council exhorts all who drive or walk to do everything possible to avoid making it Canada's "death day."

The Council has expressed the fear that thousands July 1, 1967, will see 15 human lives lost in road traffic. "Drivers and walkers can make this a ridiculous problem simply by doing what they know they should do and avoiding what they know is wrong," the Council said.

Some CIBC staff drive defensively: anticipate the unexpected... make certain the vehicle is in safe operating condition... use every safety feature of the car; wear belts, seat belts, turn signals, rear-view mirrors, others... give as much road to the "nut" driver as he wants; stay away from him.

LOCAL WITNESSES TO ATTEND CONVENTION AT PETERBORO

Mr. Charles Peacock, president of Jehovah's Witnesses, yesterday that the Lindsay congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses has been invited to attend a four-day assembly to be held July 22 to 25 at Memorial Community Centre, Peterborough. Mr. Peacock will head the local congregation of about 40 persons.

The assembly is being arranged by the Watchtower Bible Society of Toronto for the congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses located in eastern Ontario and including some of the English-speaking ones from the province of Quebec. An attendance in excess of 5,000 is expected.

"The purpose of the assembly programme," said Mr. Peacock, "is to provide additional Bible instruction for the Witnesses to enable them to apply Bible principles more fully to their everyday lives and activities. We believe," said the Watchtower spokesman, "that God's Word, the Bible, is indispensable to the Christian way of life, and to focus attention on this Book of Books, the assembly programme will carry the theme, 'Word of God'." The local minister explained that the four-day programme would include talks, discussions and practical demonstrations.

Mr. Peacock further reported that several representatives of the Toronto Watchtower branch office will speak in Peterborough. Highlight of the programme is scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday when a Watchtower official will give a public address on "World Government is Scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday when the Prince of Peace."

Lindsay K of C elected as district delegate

At the recent Ontario convention of the Knights of Columbus held at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto, Paul Cayley, Grand Knight of Lindsay K of C, was elected as a delegate for the local district to the supreme convention to be held in Washington, D.C. in August of this year.

Mr. Cayley will represent K of C councils from Port Hope, Peterboro, Oranville, Whitby and Lindsay.

The election of next year's officers was held at the final meeting of the year for the K of C on Thursday. The results were as follows:

Chaplain Father C. J. Carroll, Grand Knight R. J. Williamson, Deputy Grand Knight C. J. Cole, Chancellor Peter Kitchener, Recorder George Pearson, Secretary E. J. Greenan.

Legion members attend district drumhead service

Royal Canadian Legion committee Ross Harding and William Durney of Lindsay along with their wives, were among 250 legionnaires and women's auxiliary members from the district who attended the district drumhead service in Port Hope Sunday afternoon.

Comrade Gordon Wakefield of Woodstock, the president of the Provincial Command of the Royal Canadian Legion, was the principal speaker.

Under his auspices, three Legion pipe-bands along with 25 colour-party made a colourful parade through the streets of Port Hope where a large number of residents turned out to witness the service and are the parade.

District Commander Gerald Simpson of Brighton placed a wreath on the casket in honour of those who gave their lives in the World Wars.

How to relieve BACK ACHE

See Peter Kitchener, D.D.S., for relief of back aches, neck aches, and other pains. He is a specialist in the treatment of these conditions.

Announce New Helping Substance: Shrinks Piles

Dr. Bisset said too many museums and art centres are being built to commemorate the Canadian centennial. He said that in making plans for the centennial, Canadians are searching out all sorts of ways to preserve our traditions and make them available to the public.

Museums and art centres are fine, he said, but, as he put it, "We must not forget what is at the heart of any system of national self-understanding and projection — our libraries."

Assessors training must be improved Mayors' are told

Kitchener (CP) — Municipal affairs minister Spooner said in Kitchener today that before municipalities demand access to other sources of revenue, they must adopt a better assessment programme.

In an address prepared for delivery to the associate of Ontario mayors and reeves, Mr. Spooner said it is imperative that municipalities improve training of assessors.

Mr. Spooner said municipalities must take a long look at assessment methods employed within their boundaries. Some ratayers, he said, pay too much, other pay too little and a few pay nothing at all.

The minister said that municipalities which cannot find suitable employment for an assessor could sponsor and adopt the country or district assessment system. Mr. Spooner said ten Ontario counties and one territorial district now employ a centralized assessment system.

If you think you don't need disability insurance, you haven't seen the statistics.

Of 1000 persons aged 35, 35% will be disabled by illness or injury — for three months or more — before they reach 65. That's what the statistics show. What kind of disability will you be?

It makes sense to buy into a Manufacturers Life Personal Income Protection Plan. Nothing can give you more peace of mind and the sure knowledge that if you are disabled and cannot work, a guaranteed income will come your way.

Our Plan has many advantages. Because you have a wide flexibility in amount of income and the length of time it will be paid. For example, you may be able to arrange for income benefit right through to age 65 for total disability due to accident or for life when an accident is the cause. Accidental death, disability, membership benefits for up to $50,000 of death benefit. You can coordinate the plan with your other insurance. You can coordinate the plan with your other insurance. You can coordinate the plan with your other insurance.

If you are interested, ask the Man from Manufacturers. When advising you on disability income insurance, you'll get the correct information you need to plan your life insurance security.
